Bethel FY'01 budget proposal calls for hiring paramedics

And a fourth police officer

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel Town Manager Scott Cole has proposed significantly beefing up the town's emergency services personnel.

In an initial FY-2001 budget proposal presented to town selectmen last week, Cole proposed an increase of 13.8 percent in the amount of wages and salaries the town pays its employees (that figure does not include sewer plant employees).

Much of that increase would go to paying for 12-hour-a-day professional paramedic coverage, to augment the coverage provided by the volunteer Bethel Rescue Service.

Cole's proposal also calls for adding a fourth full-time police officer to the current three-officer force, and for overall pay increases for other town employees.

Pay for paramedics

The proposed ambulance service changes would cost $44,000, with part of that offset by a $3,000 reduction in volunteer crew wages (from $19,000 to $16,000 a year).

The idea was being proposed now, Cole said, because of the increasing difficulty the ambulance service is having in turning out volunteers, especially during the day (the paramedics would be on duty from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.).

"The suggestion to go to paramedics is borne out of the lack of reliable coverage," said Cole.

The selectmen were sympathetic to the need, but also sure that such

Buy a Hummer.

Entice out-of-state firefighters who ski at Sunday River to join the Fire Department, possibly by offering free season tickets.

Charge Hanover a nominal annual stipend for being available to fight fires in that town.

Those are some of the suggestions in a just-issued report from Neil Courtney, a consultant hired by Newry to draw up a "strategic plan" for the town's Fire Department.

Selectmen are not rushing to endorse the plan as-is, however. "It's not necessarily a plan, but it's a step," said First Selectman Steve Wight.

"Perhaps the two most critical issues facing the Newry Fire Department are the need to upgrade and streamline its front-line apparatus and to add new members to its roles," wrote Courtney. "The fleet is aged, obsolete and is not designed with many of the user-friendly, efficient concepts found in today's modern fire apparatus."

"This is not to say the department needs to buy fire trucks made of gold. The need is to provide firefighters with optimal tools required to do their job effectively."

"To date, the town has only spent $65,000 on two pumpers, obtained several forest fire trucks through a state loan program, was given a discarded pumper, and was donated a ladder truck from the proprietors of the Sunday River ski area."

Snowmobile horizons expand as distances shrink

By ALISON ALOISIO

A 1,400-mile, eight-day snowmobile trip from Bethel to New Brunswick, Canada, may sound like an incredible journey to many people. But for more and more area riders, it's becoming a very doable vacation.

Jeff Hutchins of Bethel and some friends just proved it. Hutchins had always wanted to take a snowmobile starting in New Brunswick and going to Bethel. "But I could never get anyone to drive the trailers (back home, if they started from Canada)," he said.

So, this year, Hutchins and some friends decided to take matters into their own hands. "We decided to do (the trip) both ways," he said.

"We" included Denny Wheeler and Keith Davis of Bethel and Fred Corriveau of Gilead, as well as Mike Richards of Harrison.

New equipment, improved trails, expanded amenities combine to bring Canada within easy reach Hutchins mapped out a route - all 1,400 miles of it. They would start in Gilead and ride through Andover, Byron, Rangeley, Eustis, The Forks, Greenville, Kakajio, Millinocket, Oxbow, Ashland, Portage, Eagle Lake, Stockholm, St. Agatha and Madawaska.

Then he made motel reservations. The men would not take along their own food, but would eat in readily accessible restaurants. "You have to have some creature comforts," said Hutchins.

The men set out on Feb. 1. On the first day they traveled about 180 miles, spending the night in West Forks. The next day was a 160-mile leg to Millinocket, and then another 250 miles to the Van Buren/St. Agatha area.

"All these communities are snowmobiler-oriented," said Wheeler.

The men used the Madawaska area as their base of operations for day trips into New Brunswick. Canada is a popular destination for some riders because of the favorable exchange rate.

And on this particular trip, the Madawaska International Snowmobile Festival provided the added incentive of a $10, three-day pass to travel back and forth across the border. The pass usually costs much more.

On the return trip, the men stayed in Millinocket and Jackman, before returning to the Bethel area on Feb. 8.

Scenery like the view of Mt. Katahdin from the trail was spectacular, Hutchins said. Other land-

Planners want flashers in video store window gone

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Bethel Planning Board is asking Rob Howe, owner of Viewer's Choice Video on Main Street, to shut off the blinking lights in the store window.

The store relocated to the recently renovated Mt. Abram Building several months ago. It was formerly located in the Mountain View Mall.

Strings of blinking lights ring large posters displayed in the store's front windows. The Bethel sign ordinance states: "no sign shall: consist of strings of lights or have blinking, flashing or fluttering lights or other illuminating devices which have a changing light intensity, brightness or color."

The lights were allowed at the earlier location because they were in place prior to the adoption of the current ordinance.

In a letter to Howe dated Feb. 7, Code Enforcement Officer Don Murphy wrote, "Ordinances aside, a number of citizens have expressed their displeasure over the blinking lights."

Planning Board member Stan Howe said he also has heard from several people who object to the lights.

The Mt. Abram Building, known historically as the Mt. Abram Lodge Odd Fellows Hall, was purchased last year by David Murphy and Bruce Powell. Their renovation work included replacing the small front

MUCH IS STILL ON THE TABLE

To the Editor:

For now, Indian gambling in Albany remains blocked. The Maine Supreme Court has spoken, and the land in Albany does not yet qualify as Indian land. Will the Passamaquoddy's now give up in their efforts to bring gambling to Albany? I seriously doubt it.

In all likelihood, the Passamaquoddy Tribe will go back to the state Legislature to try to enact a new deadline so that the Albany land can become accepted by the Secretary of Interior as Indian land. The approval process will have to start all over again. LURC will have to publish plans, schedule hearings, etc. But it is important to note that the bulk of the objections raised by the opponents to the project have never been addressed by the court. The court had to decide on the first point, which failed, so they have not yet looked at any of the other evidence.

I believe that all the evidence submitted to LURC in the prior application is overwhelming evidence that the former Meader property is not suitable for a large development. It is in the floodplain of the Crooked River, a threat to pollution of a large water system - Crooked River, Sebago Lake, and the water supply of the city of Portland itself. And ultimately, the Army Corps of Engineers must certify the project, a condition of the new inapplicable permit. The issue of need in the community - the definition of need, the definition of community, and LURC's adherence to its own standards are all still on the table.

In spite of its small population, Albany's mettle has been shown. Hats off to the many who have crusaded to keep life in Albany the way it should be, and to prevent eternal damage to our environment.

BINGO SCENARIO IN AUGUSTA

To the Editor:

The Maine Supreme Court win for Albany Township in Kimball v. LURC is viewed by residents as a win for preserving a pristine area and a win for preserving this area of the state as a center for family recreation. What we defeated was a high-stakes gambling facility that would redefine the way of life in Western Maine. The tribe, however, appears to view the Court's decision as simply anti-Native American.

The current scenario unraveling in the Legislature is as follows: the Penobscot Tribe has submitted a bill, L.D. 2499, that would amend the Land Claims Settlement Act so that the date by which that tribe can continue to add to "Indian Territory" is extended from Jan. 31, 2000 to Jan. 31, 2020. Albany is currently not on the Penobscot's list of townships. Accordingly, area residents do not have a direct personal stake in this legislation. There is also a concern that opposition to Penobscot's legislation would be used as evidence that Albany residents are simply anti-Native American.

On the other hand, it is important that legislators not view this piece of legislation in isolation. Consider that if the deadline to add Indian Territory is extended to 2020 for the Penobscots, then certainly the Passamaquoddy would argue that their deadline should also be extended. We would hope that if the Passamaquoddy Tribe were to ask for such an extension, that the Legislature would at the same time remove Albany Township from the list of potential areas of Indian Territory.

It is important for our legislators to bear in mind that the extent of tribal sovereignty on Indian Territory is an unsettled area of law. The tribes take the position that many state laws, including the environmental laws, are not applicable on Indian Territory. The tribes' special rights on these lands are already considerable: for example, the land is removed from the tax rolls and contracts with the tribe regarding these lands are unenforceable unless approved in advance by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Moreover any change to the Indian Territory statute cannot be corrected by future legislation without ratification by the Indian tribe.

Hopefully the legislature will realize that it is shortsighted to address this type of legislation on a piecemeal basis.

Margaret Wille, Attorney for Kimball et al.; resident of Albany Township

SNOWMEN WEEKEND EVENTS

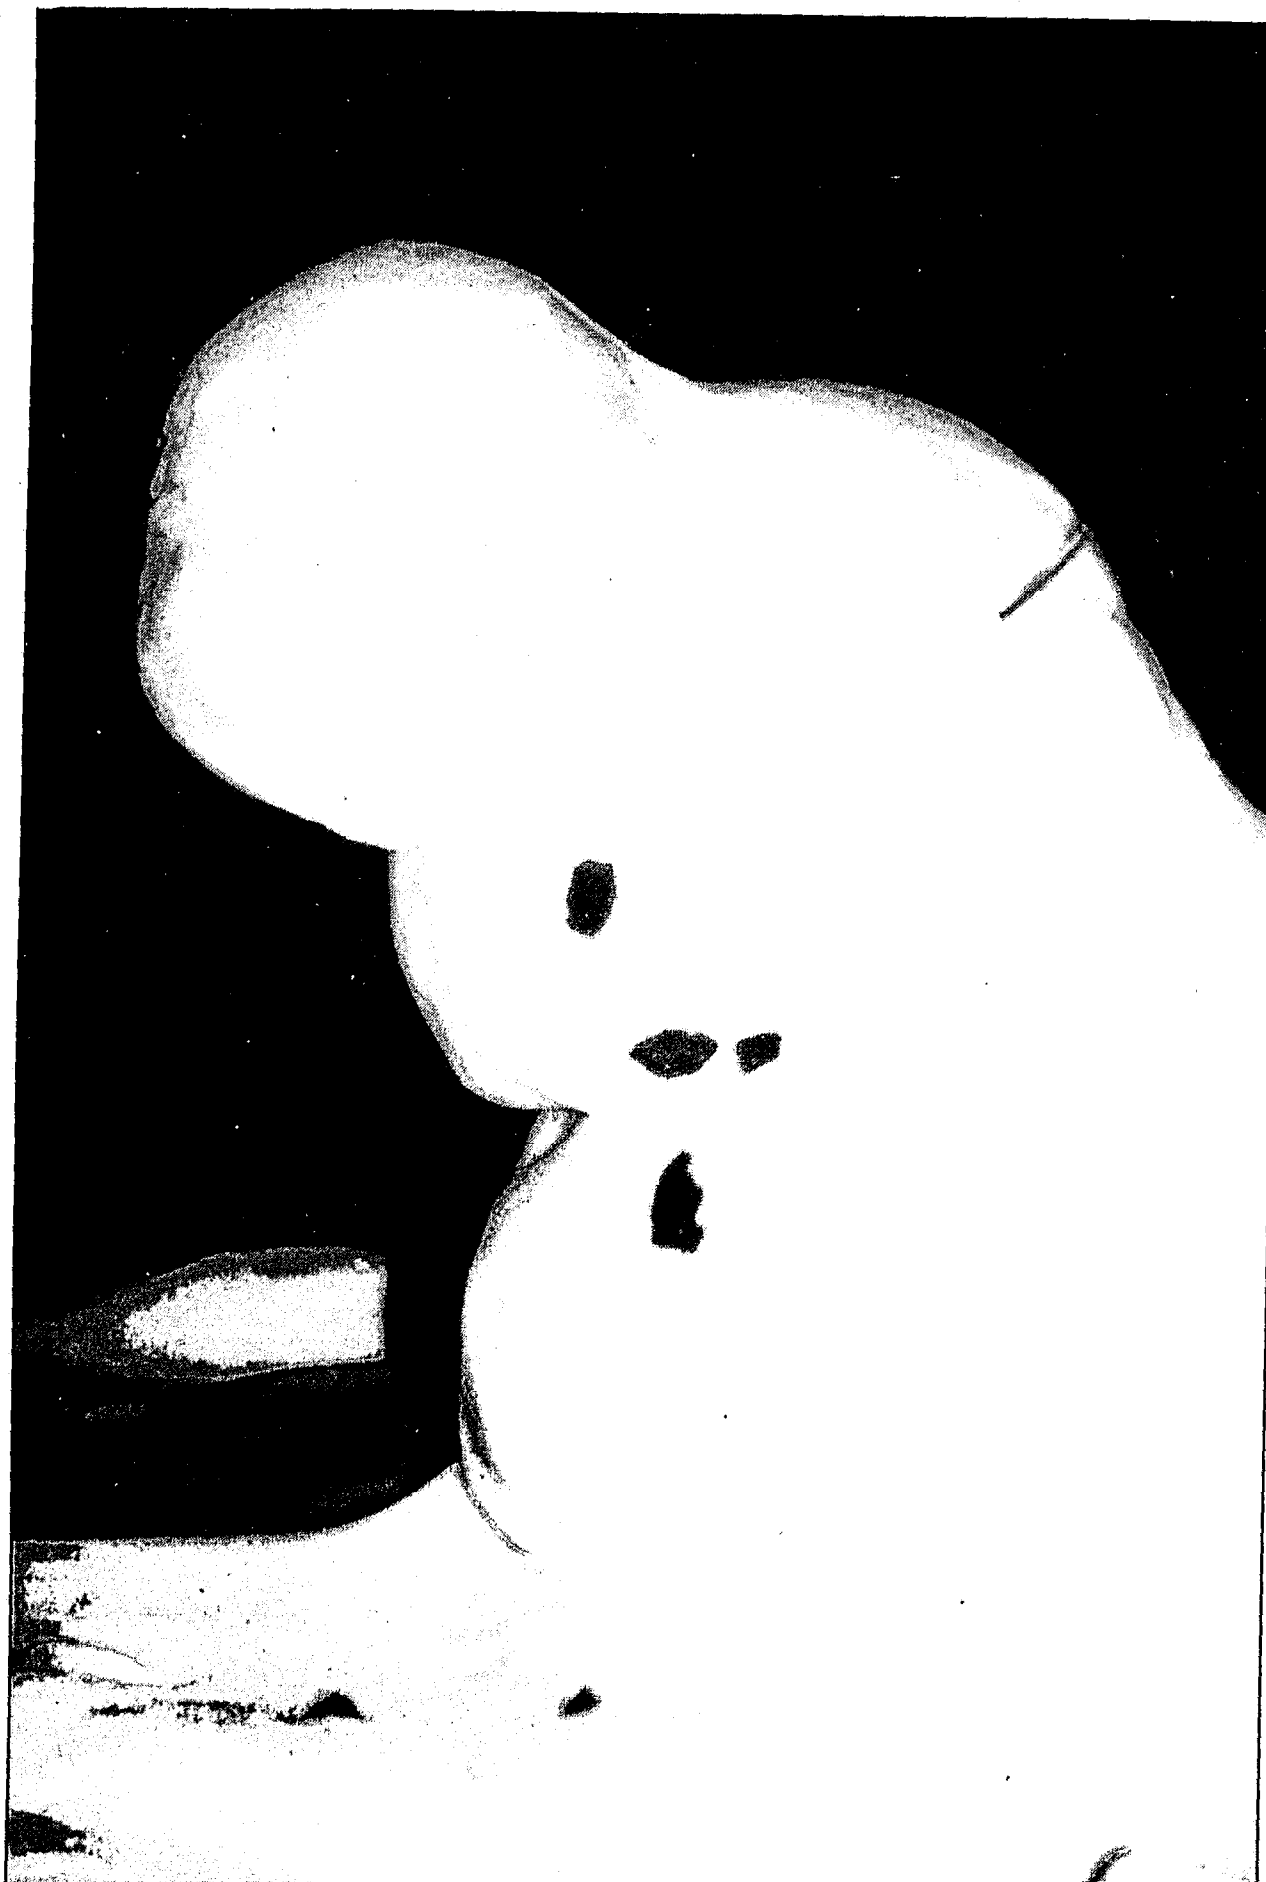

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce 2000 Snowmen Fest Committee, we would like to thank all of you that have managed to get out to build a snowman or snow creation. This has been a challenging winter, with snow that is fine and non-packable, but it looks like our "snow-luck" is changing with the wetter snow that fell this week.

All are invited to join the fun this Saturday, Feb. 19, at our 2000 Snowmen Fest "Angus Memorial Celebration" from 3 to 6 p.m. on the Bethel Common and at the Bethel Inn Conference Center. In addition to the bonfire on the common where we will be roasting hot dogs and marshmallows, we'll have free horse-drawn wagon rides, ice skating and snowman building. Indoors, we'll have the snowmen judging being done, the Angus Photo Contest judging, musical and dance performances, a puppet show and a variety of giveaways provided by our event partners.

We hope that by promoting this 2000 Snowmen Fest we have encouraged folks to get out and play in the snow. We will continue to accept snowmen registrations all season long in an attempt to reach our goal of 2000 by the time snow melts in the spring. Those who can get out and build one, take a photo and get it to the chamber office by this Saturday morning between 10 a.m. and noon will be eligible for the prizes awarded at Saturday's celebration.

Business signs

on the town or its businesses as a whole, Town Manager Scott Cole said. But it will require a review of the ordinance by the Maine Department of Transportation.

In the meantime, Cummings is hoping other businesspeople in Bethel will use the review as an opportunity to bring their own concerns about the sign ordinance to town officials.

Appeal tabled

Cummings owns a craft shop and Bean a gem shop on the Sunday River Road. They say that Bethel's sign ordinance, approved by townpeople in 1999, is hurting their business.

The ordinance restricts business signage in state rights of way to a kiosk-style sign at the intersection of the road on which the business is located. Before the ordinance was enacted, the women had signs farther to the east on Route 2.

But having a sign right at the intersection, they said, is simply not practical on a road where the speed limit is 55 miles an hour. By the time drivers spot the sign, they are almost by it and unlikely to turn around, the women said, and they have lost business as a result.

The Planning Board last month approved a sign located to the east of the intersection. The women also requested a similar sign to the west of the intersection, but planners denied the request, saying they could not go that far.

Bean and Cummings then filed an appeal on the second sign, and a meeting with the Appeals Board was scheduled for last Thursday.

Their request is not the first of its kind to come before the board. Late last year, the board granted an appeal from Intervale Road businessman David Carter to place signs 200 feet in each direction from the intersection with Route 26.

But the women's appeal was never heard. A few hours before the meeting, Town Manager Scott Cole learned that the portion of the town ordinance addressing business signs in state rights of way had never been formally "executed" with the Maine Department of Transportation. As a result, that section of the ordinance was invalid.

The Appeals Board, therefore, tabled the appeal until state approval could be obtained — possibly sometime in late March.

Wrote Cole in a letter to the board: "It is regretful that the town administration has failed to follow through in this matter. Ideally, the ordinance would have been forwarded to the MDOT immediately after enactment at the June, 1999 town meeting. Please accept my apologies for any inconvenience this has caused."

Cole said that Bill McFarland, supervisor of right of way control for MDOT, would review the Bethel ordinance in the next several weeks. "Assuming that the current ordinance provisions are consistent with state guidelines, a state approval could be expected by the end of March," Cole wrote.

Contact Sign Committee

While the Appeals Board members could not deal with the appeal, they and others in attendance at last Thursday's meeting did discuss the sign ordinance informally.

Al Cressey said the addition of at least one businessperson (Cathi diCocco) to the Planning Board's sign committee should provide good input in the future for making adjustments to the ordinance.

"We need people not to complain informally, but if they have concerns to express them to the right people," he said. "I think the process is in place."

Cressey, a member of Bethel's 2003 Committee, said Bean and Cummings had previously met with the committee regarding the sign ordinance. "We recommended they in turn go to the Sign Committee to express their concerns," he said.

Cummings endorsed that suggestion Tuesday. "While the ordinance is being reviewed (by McFarland), this is a good time to coordinate with the Sign Committee," she said.

She said she hoped people would contact committee members with any sign-related issues, not just the one she and Bean are appealing, she said.

Cummings also urged people to share their feelings on the issue in letters to the newspaper.

Briefly

Board awards asbestos contract

BETHEL—The SAD44 School Board Monday awarded a contract for the removal of asbestos from the Telstar complex. New Meadows Abatement Inc. of Bath will begin the work next week, during school vacation. The portion of the project to be completed during that week will cost $11,300. District voters will go to the polls March 7 to decide whether SAD44 will fund $250,000 as its share of a larger abatement project for the building. The money would be paid as part of an interest-free, five-year loan.

Willard running for selectman

WOODSTOCK—Nancy Willard announced this week she will be a candidate for the Woodstock selectman's seat that will be vacated by Elton Cole. Cole said he will not run for the position again.

Voters to consider station expansion

WOODSTOCK—Selectmen Tuesday decided to place a warrant article on the Town Meeting warrant asking voters if they want to establish a reserve account for future expansion of the Woodstock Fire Station. The recommended amount to be raised this year would be $20,000. Fire Chief Bill Seames said he believes the station will have to be extended by at least 40 feet to create more storage space, provide handicap accessible bathrooms and provide a larger meeting room and training space. He said he expects storage space will be needed for extra equipment the state is expected to require.

Andover needs firefighters

ANDOVER—The Andover Fire Department needs more volunteer firefighters, Chief Ken Dixon told selectmen last week. The department has approximately 20 firemen on its roster, but only about three are available during the day to answer fire calls. At least seven firefighters are needed for an initial attack on a fire, he said. In other Fire Department business, selectmen scheduled a public hearing for Feb. 22 regarding annual Town Meeting items relating to the department.

Shock Wave topples snowmobiler

NEWRY—A man who said he was out to rescue some women sliding on Sunday River's Shock Wave trail was not injured when his snowmobile slid about 1,000 feet down the steep ski trail. The incident happened at about 1 a.m. Friday morning. Erik Kress, 31, was told some women were sliding on the trail and needed rescuing, according to Game Warden Norm Lewis. Kress set out on his father's new snowmobile. He climbed the 60-degree trail until the machine lost momentum and started sliding back downhill. Kress jumped off, and he and the machine slid down the slope. It crashed into trees and was demolished. Kress did not slide as far, and was not hurt. The ski resort said it might charge him for cost of recovering the machine.

Teen driver stopped with spike mat

PARIS—Police used a spike mat to stop a 16-year-old West Paris driver who led a state trooper on an 85-mile-an-hour chase from Woodstock Wednesday evening. The teen, who had two passengers with him, turned off his lights when trooper Tim Turner turned his cruiser around and came after him. The passengers, who were also teenagers, reportedly tried to get the driver to stop. The spike mat was placed near Popeye's Store on Route 26, and the driver was arrested by Moore Park, on the outskirts of Market Square. He was driving a 1994 Ford Thunderbird. The boy had had his license for only a short time, according to Turner.

Ballroom classes offered

WEST PARIS—Ballroom dance classes to benefit the First Universalist Church in West Paris will begin March 22, at the Agnes Gray School gym. The hour-long (7-8 p.m.) classes will run weekly through April 26, and will be taught by Nancy Willard. To register, call Willard at 665-2788 or Joyce Lamb at 674-2002.

Day care owner charged with assault

BUCKFIELD—A Buckfield daycare operator accused of assaulting a child in her care has been released on bail. Police charged Toni Bailey, 33, with aggravated assault after her arrest Sunday. Detectives accused Bailey of assaulting 15-month-old Jacob Brown so severely he had to be taken by helicopter from Lewiston to a special care unit in Portland. Department of Public Safety spokesman Stephen McCausland said Bailey has been running an unlicensed day care in her home since November. She is accused of assaulting the boy last week, and was released from the Oxford County Jail on bail Monday. The boy was in satisfactory condition Tuesday.

NAMI-ME support group forming

BETHEL—A support group for family members of people suffering from manic depression/bipolar disorder, schizophrenia, depression or attention deficit disorder/attention deficit hyperactivity disorder will begin meeting Feb. 22. The group, to be known as FACTS (Families/Friends And Consumers Together for Support), will meet from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at the Ethel Bisbee Adult Learning Center. The group is affiliated with the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill—Maine. Participants must be at least 18 years old. For further information contact facilitator Rhonda Buker at 824-3076.

New REACH number

NORWAY—The Rape Education and Crisis Hotline (REACH) has changed its 24-hour hotline number to (800) 871-7741. The toll-free number is available to victims and survivors of any type of sexual assault or sexual abuse, either recent or in the past, as well as other caring individuals.

Coastal waterfowl numbers drop

AUGUSTA—Warm early winter weather led to a decrease in the number of waterfowl wintering along Maine's coast this January, according to the annual midwinter waterfowl survey completed by the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. "Mild temperatures in December and early January resulted in many inland wetland habitats staying free of ice," said Lindsay Tudor, a wildlife biologist with the department. "With that amount of open inland habitat available to ducks and geese, it kept them away from the coast. If there is food available, waterfowl are very reluctant to move." The survey team counted a total of 79,247 ducks, 3,139 geese, 51 bald eagles, and 185 loons wintering along the Maine coast.

Bethel Alpine Derby scheduled

BETHEL—The eighth annual Bethel Area Mountain Madness Norway Savings Bank Alpine Derby will be held at Mt. Abram Ski Resort on March 13. People of all levels of skiing and snowboarding are invited to participate. Teams of four will vie for the fastest overall time, the closest overall to a "best guess" time and the fastest mixed team (alpine, snowboard, telemark combination). Business teams and individuals are encouraged to register by the deadline of March 10. In addition to the races activities will include a post-race party, a snowvenger hunt and a barbecue lunch. Tickets are $35 per person. For more information call the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce at 824-2282.

A license check showed he had an active warrant for arrest for failure to pay a fine. Joshua J. Appleton, 26, of Jay was arrested and taken to the Oxford County Jail. The vehicle appeared to be unsafe and was towed, and a forced inspection ordered.

Wednesday, Feb. 9

At 7:15 p.m. police arrested Louis Shropshire, 22, of Bryant Pond on Church Street for assault. He was taken to the Oxford County Jail and held in lieu of bail.

Sunday, Feb. 13

scapes, like views from low hilltops in northern Maine, were less breathtaking — but still left the snowmobilers with an appreciation for the vastness of the Maine wilderness and Aroostook County, Wheeler said.

The men were quick to point out that a trip of this length is not unique. There are a number of area snowmobilers who tour into Canada, Hutchins said.

Emmie Merrill of West Bethel is among them. Last winter, Merrill, his brother, Dwight, and two other men trailed their snowmobiles to northern Maine and then toured Canada's Gaspe Peninsula — a 1,000-mile jaunt.

On their trip, they often stopped at snowmobile clubhouses for meals or snacks. Because of the easy availability of food, few snowmobilers pack extensive meals to take with them, Merrill said. A few changes of clothing are all the packing required, he said.

All the men emphasized that it has been the recent development of trails and trailside facilities that has led to the increased popularity of a snowmobile vacation.

It wasn't necessary to take more than snacks for food. Restaurants were accessible all along the way.

Restaurants and motels that formerly closed for the winter now stay open to cater to eager snowmobilers. Trails are carefully groomed right up to gas stations and snowmobile repair shops as well.

"In the last few years these towns (along the trails) have been wide open to snowmobilers," said Merrill.

The greater reliability of the machines also makes riders more confident in setting out on long trips.

Bruce Powell. Their renovation work included replacing the small front windows with large ones to bring the building back to its original appearance.

Rob Howe will meet with the board next week to plead his case to keep the blinking lights.

He said Monday that most video stores have light displays like his to call attention to recent movie releases. Howe said he had no complaints when the lights were in place at his Mountain View Mall location.

"Now it's an issue," he said. At the new location, he argued, the lights are higher above the street and farther back than in his former location — making them less of a distraction.

Howe also argues that the Bethel ordinance is unclear about the board's authority over window signs. He cites a section of the ordinance that defines a sign as a structure that is situated "outdoors." That, he said, calls into question the planners' right to tell him what to do with a window sign.

In another part of the ordinance, however, there is language stating that the ordinance applies to "all exterior and lighted interior signs in the Town of Bethel visible from any public way."

The ordinance does allow "steady," that is, non-blinking, lights.

Newry

"This was a good deal as the department took its first steps, but the department has proved its mettle and is emerging from infancy, and the prospect of continuing in such a manner is dubious. The fire department is responsible for protecting 320 year-round residents, nearly $200 million in property and thousands of visitors that swarm into Newry during the height of ski season."

Equipment priorities

Courtney set out five priorities for replacing or improving equipment, listed as follows: 1) Purchase a pumper/tanker as soon as possible, to replace the 1969 tanker (already proposed in the Town Meeting warrant); 2) Respond to motor vehicle fires with a pumper, rather than the current four-wheel drive pickup truck, which Courtney said should be used exclusively for forest fires; 3) Purchase a new pumper; 4) Replace the 30-year-old ladder truck in the near future; 5) Continue to procure forest firefighting apparatus from the state or federal government. For example, Hummers, available as excess Department of Defense property, would be good for Newry's rugged terrain.

Courtney also suggested a possible joint purchase of a ladder truck with Bethel (a new one costs $500,000, but would provide 25 years of service, he said). He also said Newry's two current forest-fire fighting vehicles should be able to provide several more years of service.

Suggestion: require high-rises to have standpipes, for more efficient firefighting.

Manpower needs

Regarding membership, Courtney said Newry's nine active members provide a relatively high representation of the town's population, but frequently there are still not enough members to respond to calls.

He suggested the town might increase membership in several ways: Sunday River Ski Resort might entice employees to join by offering "remuneration," or could encourage condominium owners who are also firefighters to become part-time members by offering perks.

In Carrabassett Valley (where Sugarloaf is located), out-of-towners are offered free season passes and wages for providing coverage and attending training sessions. Weekend coverage is also provided by two on-duty firefighters residing in the fire station.

Courtney also offered several suggestions regarding administration of the Fire Department. Newry, he said, should consider charging Hanover a nominal annual stipend for being available to provide coverage. Currently, Newry only charges when coverage costs are incurred.

The charge would offset Newry's costs to maintain its fire service, he said.

(Selectmen recently opposed a tentative proposal by Bethel requesting an annual contribution to help cover that town's costs for providing backup police coverage in Newry.)

Courtney also suggested the town incorporate further fire-protection requirements into the town's ordinances. For example, he said, the town might require standpipes in the town's "high rise" buildings. Such pipes would carry firefighting water within the building, providing internal hookups for hoses. The system would be more efficient than running hundreds of feet of hose through corridors and doors, he said.

The selectmen will further review Courtney's report, which came with a price tag of $4,000, before deciding what to do next. A move would raise considerable discussion.

Bethel

It would amount, said Board Chairman Dresser, "to a paradigm shift in the way we look at the ambulance service ... from a volunteer staff to a professional staff."

"We've known forever that at some point in time we'd need to weigh the relative benefits of putting out an RFP for ambulance service and beginning to hire bits and pieces to pull in around a fading volunteer service," Dresser said. "I'm not real anxious to do that until and unless we have to, but I know people are going to want to have that conversation."

Fellow selectman Don Bennett, whose wife, Cheryl, is an ambulance service volunteer, said he was well aware of the ongoing difficulty of providing reliable coverage. "In a lot of cases it seems to me you have people who want to volunteer, and after they've volunteered there's no responsibility that goes along with it. ... It seems to me there are times when people take this volunteerism as 'I'll do it when I want to.'"

But said Bennett, "This obviously is a lot of money, and it's going to generate some discussion for sure."

Fourth officer

Cole is also proposing that the Bethel Police Department be allowed to hire an additional officer.

The current three-man department provides 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week coverage — but, said Cole, the "Thin Blue Line" is stretched thinner than he is comfortable with.

The fourth officer, he said, "would provide a higher quality '24/7' coverage through reduced officer fatigue. It would also minimize the town's overtime wage exposure."

The new officer would cost $18,500 a year, but a substantial amount of that cost, noted Selectman Reggie Brown, would be offset by the reduced overtime payments to other officers.

Cole is also proposing a minimum increase in overall full-time and permanent part-time wage and salaries of 2 percent, which reflects the national inflation rate.

But he is also calling for increases in the salaries of a number of full-time positions "well beyond this mark (2 percent) in order to reflect relative job responsibilities, in-time service of certain individuals and prevailing labor market conditions for their particular job skills."

The selectmen will discuss these proposals in subsequent meetings. The first of a series of joint meetings with the town Budget Committee, to review the overall FY01 budget package, is scheduled for Feb. 28 (the Budget Committee has no formal authority regarding wage and salary matters).

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Ruth Wight was honored with a surprise 80th birthday party, given by her children, on Sunday at the West Parish Congregational Church, Bethel. Those attending included her brothers, Gilbert White of Bangor and Donald White of Glastonbury, Conn.; her five children and their families, Steve of Newry, Greg of Brookfield, Vt., Andy of Branford, Conn., Leslie Grenier of Mt. Vernon, and Amy Chapman of Locke Mills; and many nieces and nephews; grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and friends from far and near. She also received many cards from friends and relatives who were unable to attend.

Dolores Williams and friends, Louie and Della Vallee of Windham, Sandy and Artie Natalatuno of Raymond, David Rowe Jr., David Rowe Sr., Johnny Mancini and Hanka of the Portland area were in Madawaska for the International Snowmobile Festival recently. They rode 125 miles a day on trails both in the United States and Canada. The festival brought a million dollars into the economy. They reported having a wonderful time.

Donald Ferrero of New Bedford, Mass., visited a few days recently with Bud and Mary Paine. Roger and Nancy Adams of Simsbury, Conn., also visited the Paines one day last week.

Peter and Stacey Keniston, Elise and Sarah of Turner visited Bob and Ginny Keniston on Sunday.

Frank Belisle, who was diagnosed with pneumonia, was taken, on Sunday, to the Berlin, N.H., hospital.

Women of the West Parish Congregational Church put on the Bethel Senior Citizens Club dinner last Wednesday.

Leroy Brown and grandson, Lucas Chifton, of Norfolk, Va., are arriving on Saturday to spend a week with his mother, Beatrice Brown. Leroy has retired from the Navy after 39 years.

Weekend guests of Scott and Susan Parker and family were Scott's parents, David and Freda Parker of Bottle Lake, Springfield (Maine). Also visiting were Scott's brother and sister-in-law, Courtney and Barbara Parker with Abby and Alexandra of Topsham. Other guests were Wendy and Ron Goodwin of Portland.

Gilbert Haines of West Bethel was honored by his many friends and relatives at a surprise 60th birthday party, planned by his wife Juanita, at the Town & Country Motor Inn in Gorham, N.H., last Saturday afternoon.

Many times this winter and in winters past you have heard the weathermen say that the wind chill factor made the temperature 25, maybe 35 below zero. Well, I have known the thermometer to register 25 or 35 below zero and the wind blowing very hard. I do not know what that made the wind chill factor be. I am hoping we don't see that this winter or any other winter in the future.

Did the groundhog see his shadow? I do not know, but it is my opinion that whether he did or not, we have at least six more weeks of winter.

I have heard a lot about how cheap things are at Wal-Mart in the grocery department. Large eggs are 68 cents a dozen, for example. However, as of yet I have not had a chance to go. Vada is the one who takes me shopping, and by the time we get the other things we may want at Ames or Wal-Mart, we are both too tired to shop for groceries at Wal-Mart, as it is such a big store.

I find I can do well at the Foodliner if I watch the sales and stick to Hannaford. In fact, just recently whole chicken was advertised at the Foodliner for 47 cents and at Shop 'n Save for 59 cents a pound. Another thing, Foodliner will deliver here at the Bethel House if I cannot get down, and I cannot this winter unless it's when Vada comes up.

Sonny and Nancy look out for me when I have a doctor's appointment, except those with Dr. Liberti.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew Webster visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Prentiss in Bridgton one day recently.

The Rev. and Mrs. David Larsen attended the Bethel Alliance Church one Sunday recently and then had dinner with Drew and Judy Webster and spent the afternoon with them.

All of the folks at Bethel Alliance

Church extend our deepest sympathy to the family of Linwood Machia. The Rev. Richard A. Mowery had visited Linwood at Togus recently.

Pastor Rick Mowery's message for Sunday, Feb. 6, was "Why Christianity, Part Two."

Lacy Phillips will be taking a missions trip to Honduras this spring.

For the year 1995, the average attendance for a morning service at the Bethel Alliance Church was 55 to 60. For the year 1999, it was 90. Due to the fact that a number of regular churchgoers have passed away since 1995 and that many families have moved away, I think that speaks very well for Bethel Alliance Church. It really is growing. If any of you folks out there would like to join us, just remember you are always welcome.

Cathy DiCocco and helper were around again this week with soup for the Bethel House. Becky helped me deliver this up here. Some were taken downstairs and a lady down there helped with that. There were some lovely rolls, also. They also go to Sudbury Village. Cathy told us she would be back again next Monday. Anyone that wants to can make a donation of ingredients to go in soup; I mean maybe like a machines to please slow down when you are on the trail. As we have just found out, again, speed kills. Driving while drinking alcohol doesn't help either. Please put safety first when you are out there, and if you can't, please stay away from Farmer's Hill -- I faint at the sight of blood.

Congrats to Kier Simmons, one of my most favorite people in the world, who has been accepted to the University of Maine-Presque Isle. Way to go, "Wild Thing."

The Ellis River Riders will hold a Sleigh Rally on Feb. 20 beginning at 1 p.m. The rally will be held at the Anticils on Route 108 in Peru.

Norman and Freeman Farrington and Bev and Billy Swan are spending some time at Caribou Lake. Hope that they haven't been snowed in.

On Tuesday, Feb. 29, at 6:30 p.m. there will be a Public Hearing at the Town Hall. This will be the last hearing before Town Meeting on March 4.

If you want to write in a candidate for office, when you vote on March 7, make sure you print the name of your choice, check (X) the box beside the name, and also put the name of the town in which that person resides. If you don't do these three things, your vote will not count. Absentee ballots are available at the Town Office. You can call Phyllis at the Town Office at 392-3302 for more information.

Upton

by Eleanor LeCompte

Monday morning we awoke to find the snow that we did not get in December piling up again. By Monday noon we had received 5.7 inches of new snow. This brought snow on the level up to 27 inches. The snow was followed by a fine rain, which muddled things up to a "fair" day.

It's February and we are supposed to have snow. As it gets deeper the deer are finding it increasingly difficult to get to the feeding station. They have abandoned some routes because the snow is too deep. They get there but expend a lot of energy doing so. What they don't need are dogs chasing them in the woods.

Upton is occasionally the dropping ground for unwanted cats and dogs. These cowardly individuals leave their unwanted pets on Route 26 or the East "B" Hill Road to fend for themselves. Truck traffic is heavy and some of them are either injured or killed. They also put drivers in jeopardy. Last week someone lost or dropped a very nice golden retriever mix dog. He wandered around looking for his master and ended up with Pat Goodrum. She fed him but couldn't keep him as she has two dogs and two cats already. Mr. Dyer volunteered to care for the animal. If you lost this dog, give me a call at 207-533-2921. Sue Angevine has been caring for a mother cat and her kitten all winter. Some misguided individual dropped them on the East "B" Hill Road, just as winter set in.

I had a letter from Albert Judkins recently and he told me of the many good times that were held in the "Grange Hall." He also mentioned the names of his contemporaries that knew if the walls could talk there would be a lot of stories told.

Mike Murphy, "wood carver extraordinaire," reports that he has a huge flock of wild turkeys in the trees around his house on the way to Bethel. They have been visiting his bird feeder, but there are just too many to feed from the daily dole of wild bird feed. He also states there are close to 100 turkeys along the Androscoggin River, Scattering a little cracked corn could not hurt these birds, as they are having a hard time scratching for natural food with the snow on the ground.

Evelyn Kenney has a golden crown kinklet at her thistle feeder. She shares a flock of redpolls with Joy Yarnell. This morning there were six pine grosbeaks at our feeder. I think Mike Murphy has the "Bird of the Week." I hope he doesn't get a yen for turkey, being a real pro at bird carving.

We offer our condolences to the family of Andy Cox. Andy died last week. We all knew him as a fine example of the southern gentleman. He and his wife Dolly were unable to come to their cottage in Upton last summer due to illness. We looked forward to their arrival each June. Andy will be laid to rest in the Upton Cemetery next summer. Andy loved Upton and we loved Andy.

The next meeting will be the cooking contest, "Raisin Bars," and bring your money for the February fundraiser. The March meeting is instruction and St. Patrick's Day program.

Remember if you want to go to the Boston Flower Show on March 18 on the bus, the cost is $25 for the bus and you get your own ticket for $18 at the flower show. They will also visit Quincy Market and the Maine Mall. For more information, call JoAnn Crockett before Feb. 29 at 824-3288.

Don't forget kids, Patch the Pirate Club for grades kindergarten through six and Little Adventurers for preschool, meet every Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. Prayer meeting for adults is held at the same time. This is at the Baptist Church. All children are invited. On Sunday, Feb. 27, at 6 p.m., the Dublin Christian Academy's Drama Team will be present "Eyes Upon the Cross." All are invited to attend. Look for more information from an article in this paper.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Howe and family in the death of their daughter, Paula.

Herbert Foster, grandson of Lester Bryant, donated a photo of the quarry to the Historical Society. Much thanks. The society has many interesting old photos of Woodstock in its museum. Society members all study the past carefully. The society has many country exhibits. Primitive things are very popular with many visitors; they recall our roots in a different economy.

Mason Township

You know how some days nothing seems to go right. Well, brother Rupert had one of those days a couple weeks ago. He's not as young as he used to be, but he's been feeling good this winter, and conditions were good for working in the woods. You can't keep Rupert out of the woods when he is feeling good. There wasn't much snow, and it had been cold enough that all the brooks and swampy places on the farm froze up, with the ice rising up to cover all but the biggest obstacles. He decided it was time to cut some firewood trees growing along the brook where it is normally too wet and rough to get at easily. He got out the ATV and his old homemade snow machine sled to yard wood with, loaded up the chainsaw and axe and went to work.

Things were going well, and he got out quite a bit of wood, until he decided to cut a crooked gray birch which grew out of the brook bank and wrapped around a small fir tree a couple times. The way the tree leaned, he decided to cut it off carefully, about four feet above ground level, standing back and gingerly sawing from the uphill side. The tree came down, with the crooked part of the trunk in the brook, but the butt was still hung to the stump by a small corner of stringy wood. It appeared that the tension was off the trunk, but he still carefully sneaked up on the stump from the only angle he could get at it, touched the saw chain to it and stepped back as quickly as possible.

Too late. Quicker than spit that tree butt jumped and slammed down on top of his foot. Well, that knocked the starch out of him, and he sat for a while until the pain subsided. Surprised he was able to walk on the foot, he finished cutting up and yarding out the wood before going home to check out the foot. Turns out, the foot was badly swollen and black and blue. X-rays showed no broken bones, but the foot has been so tender and swollen that he has stuck close to home, keeping it elevated most of the time. He says it is gradually getting better, and he can now walk on it some without much pain. I guess he'll be out cutting wood again in a couple weeks if the snow isn't too deep.

In other happenings, last Saturday afternoon Mona and I went to Augusta to meet with a Civil Air Patrol logistics official from the Civil Air Patrol Northeast Region. The Maine wing has been on freeze for the past year because our supply management was in such disarray. This means that the Air Force will not ship new radios, vehicles, or other equipment for upgrading our aircraft capabilities, until our supply account ability meets standards. Mona and I, with essential help from several other CAP people in Augusta, have labored since last August to straighten things out. Happily, our inspection last Saturday satisfied TSGT Johnson from NE Region, and he says we will be off freeze as soon as he can process the paperwork. Col. Linker, commander of Maine Wing, promised me if I got the supply system straightened out, I could have my choice of jobs in Maine Wing. Now, it looks like he wants me to stick with logistics, because nobody else wants to take it over.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

I've always been a big fan of Dear Abby. I read her column just about every day. Sometimes I disagree with her advice, but most of the time we share the same opinion.

It's usually pretty basic, problematical husbands/wives/in-laws/friends. One question I've seen asked a few times, however, has me a little perplexed. That question is: What can you do to prevent snoopy guests from peering into your medicine cabinet?

I can honestly say that never once in my life have I had the least little inclination to look into someone's medicine cabinet. Is this something people really do?

Do you have an assortment of underwear held together with safety pins and duct tape like I do?

Now that the idea has been placed before me, it does cause me to wonder if other peoples' medicine cabinets look at all like mine. I can't imagine why anyone would want to look at what I have behind the mirror. I'm not even sure what I have in there because I only check it out when I'm looking for something.

I know I have some really, really old prescriptions. I just can't bring myself to throw them out because they cost so darn much when I bought them. I know they are too old for anyone to take them, but it seems too much like throwing away money, so in the medicine cabinet they stay.

I feel pretty sure I have some band-aids that are probably stuck together by now. No doubt there are some rusty razor blades and probably assorted dried up ointments and make-up. I know there is some aspirin and cough syrup and there might be some assorted sunscreens I've accumulated over the years. Of course there are various tubes of almost empty toothpaste and an array of toothbrushes. That's about it; so why would anyone want to look at that. It's not like I would hide money or jewels in my medicine cabinet. I certainly don't keep my diary in there. I just don't get it.

It does make me wonder if I have any storage similarities to others. What does it look like in your bureaus? Do you have an assortment of underwear held together with safety pins and duct tape like I do? Do you have a bunch of unmated socks that you can't bring yourself to throw out in hopes that the mate will turn up? You would think that after a few years I would come to grips with the fact that the missing socks mate will never materialize, but I never seem to give up hope.

I also have a lot of stuff in my bureau drawers that defy description; it's just stuff. Stuff that I've picked up here and there that seems like there must be some use, but I haven't figured out what it is. There are a bunch of little packets of buttons that come with sweaters and blouses as extras. I always save them yet I've never bothered to replace one. I usually use a safety pin. Is this what other people keep in their bureau drawers?

What about your linen closets or wherever you keep your sheets, pillow cases and towels? Do you have matched sets of sheets and pillow cases? I must have at one time because that's how they're sold, but none of them match now? Is it like this for everyone or am I the only one that's domestically challenged?

If I peek into your pots and pans cupboard I will find them all arranged with the sauce pans inside one another according to size? If you peek into mine, you do so at your own risk. I can promise you that at least one pan will fly out at you. If you are looking for a particular size pan, no doubt you will have to remove everything else to find it. It may have been at the front of the cupboard at one time, but it some how migrated to the back under all those other oddball pots and pans that I never use but won't get rid of.

I'd rather not one peeked into my drawers, I know they would shock any snoopy guest. Things some how accumulate in them. I don't know where all the stuff comes from or even what most of it is, but all this stuff always ends up in my drawers. I have one drawer that I guess could be called a utility drawer with spatulas, soup ladles, beater blades and stuff like that. I probably use only six or seven of these utensils, but I bet I have 40 or 50 items occupying space in this drawer.

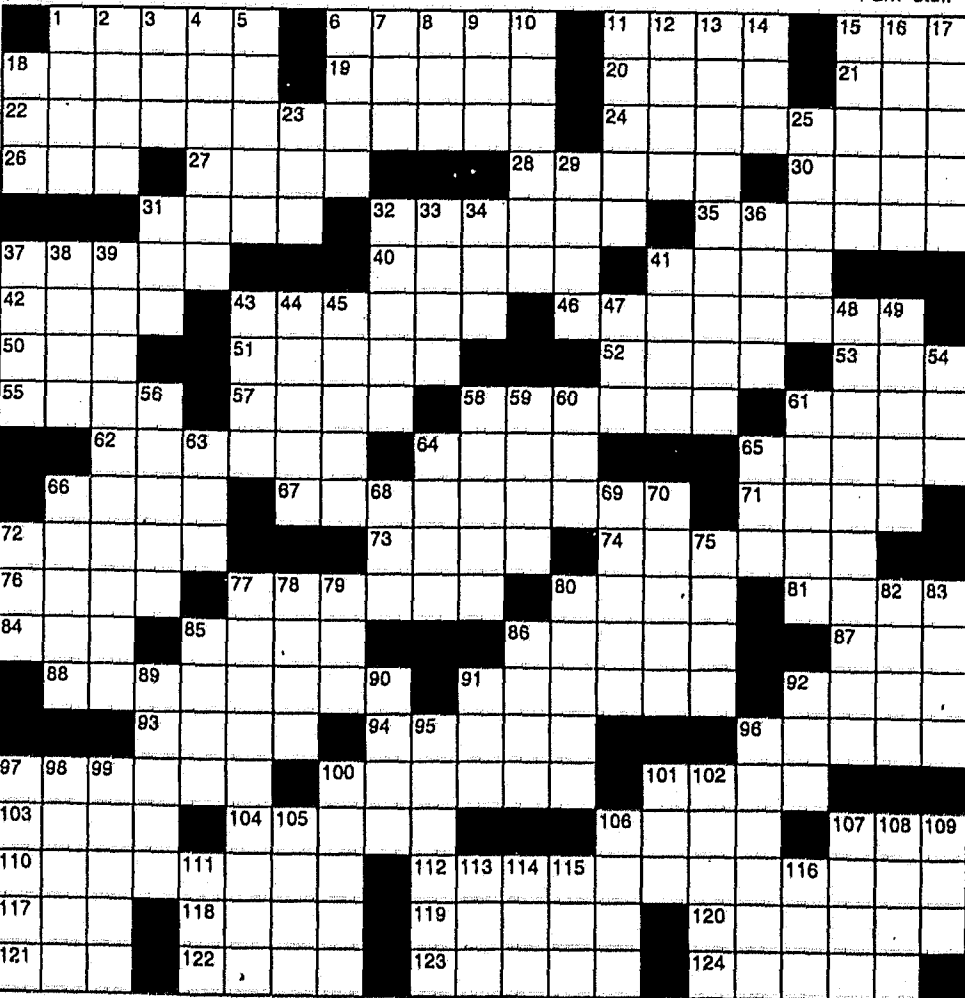

There's one drawer that collects everything that no one knows what to do with. There are decorating tips with no decorator, batteries that may or may not work, assorted nuts and bolts that must go to something, scotch tape that's stuck on the rolls, stickers that say "From the Kitchen Of" that I've never used. And there are a lot of broken things that I think I may one day fix and a bunch of stuff that may or may not be broken, but I don't know what it is in the first place.

I also have a bunch of drawers and hiding places that I put things in when I'm expecting company and I do a quick cleaning. It's all the kind of stuff that everyone has hanging around the house and you have to put it somewhere when company comes and somehow it seems to stay where you hid it. When I end up needing something previously I put away on a manic cleaning, I have to go through every drawer and closet to find where I put it.

Am I the only one with cluttered drawers or is that how everyone lives? I really don't know because as I said, I have never had the urge to peek into others private places. I do sometimes wonder, but I would never look because the way I see it, whatever you do in your drawers is none of my business!

On Saturday, Feb. 19, the Stoneham Winter Carnival starts at the Stoneham Fire Station for sign-ups, programs and refreshments. The committee has planned a lot of activities for the whole week. This is good for everybody to get together and have fun during the school vacation time. I expect to be busy part of that week at Evergreen Valley Inn. They are booked quite full. I hope you all had a nice Valentine's Day. Also, remember George Washington's birthday. Guess I'll make a cherry pie on that day.

Again this year I have been doing a campaign for the Diabetes Association through town. Thanks to all who donated to this cause. If you haven't sent anything in as yet, it's not too late. Many people have diabetes and have been helped with the program, and many more have it and don't even realize it.

Ralph and Harriett Brown are spending the winter months with their daughter, Bobbi-Ann, in Palatine, Ill. I heard from them recently and they are doing fine. They said to say hi to all their friends here.

Plans for the Stoneham Winter Carnival are moving right along. On Feb. 19 they will do the blindfold snowmobile ride again - plan on attending. It's a lot of fun. There may also be a time rally (weather permitting). On Feb. 23 there will be a bonfire, hot dogs, hot cocoa at the clubhouse for the town. On Feb. 26 there will be a '50s and '60s drive-in at the fire station. The carnival committee is selling raffle tickets. Tickets are $1 or six for $5.

Ed Barker is still working with Sunday River for the volunteer, handicap program. They now need some people on weekends, also, so if you are interested, speak with Ed.

Today gray shades hang low. The voice of cold can be heard. There are brittle cracklings and sharp reports when ice breaks from a hummock. Muffled are the sounds of the countryside. The trees are waiting out the time. The heart of winter is here. The soft conversation of the evergreen trees is keyed to the time of year. Among this ice-sheeted brook sings its muted music as the waters work toward the sea.

Winters follow a general pattern, but once in a while the unpredictable forces of currents, temperatures and moisture combine to give us snow of memorable depth. Deep drifts grow deeper and sculptured patterns are made above field boulders. There are windrows along the old cow paths in pastures. All of this of course is extra cause of work for man's order of things but it's a time of poignant beauty on the countryside; nature's winter ball when the trees are dressed in their lovely gowns for a formal

I haven't done much walking this last month but try to keep going. I'm still lame from my fall.

On Sunday afternoon, Ann and I attended the wedding of my niece, Kathy Curtis to Jason Littlehale at their home in Waterford. Joan Morgan and Kim Roak also went from here.

It was a pretty day, a pretty wedding and a pretty bride.

My good neighbors, Bill and Sylvia Wight, brought me a box full of goodies one day recently; stew, applesauce, cookies, pie, etc. Karlene Bachelier calls me up and we go shopping once or twice a week. Thank God for good neighbors.

The Newry Mothers Club will meet Monday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. at the Town Office.

Is the White House for sale to the highest bidder? Give us a president that will be "of the people, by the people" and will take care of the people who need help.

Karlene Bachelier and Gil Seely were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford one day last week to do some bowling for fun. On the overall scores, Gil was high, beating Karlene by 18 pins. She had one strike and one spare; Karlene had one spare. They went to lunch and did some shopping.

Melissa Straus spent a weekend with her grandparents, Bill and Sylvia Wight, recently.

"Everyday you should reach out and touch someone. People love that human touch... holding hands, a warm hug, or just a friendly pat on the back."

Sunday River Valley

It's Valentine's Day and the snow is falling and falling. We now have at least a foot and it is heavy and wet. The day is warm and the fields and their new coat of winter white are beautiful. It is warm and a great day for skiing and snowshoeing. We are very lucky people because our neighbors here in the Valley help us to shovel out by lending their plows as they go by. Thank you.

Aside from living in a winter wonderland we also live in an area where people care about their neighbors. That is why I like living here.

Just want to remind all Newry residents that the Newry Recreation Committee, that great group of hardworking individuals, has again scheduled a fun event for taking care of the winter blabs. On Friday, Feb. 18, from 6-9 p.m., the annual Night Ski and Sleigh Ride will occur. Sleigh rides will be from 6:30 to 8 p.m. As always, hot dogs, hot cocoa and marshmallows will be available by the bonfire. The event is free and takes place at the Sunday River Inn and Cross Country Center in Newry. Newry residents who do not have skis can rent them from the inn for $2, a deal at twice the price. Previous years have seen many residents from both valleys - Sunday River and Bear River - coming together with their entire families to enjoy a night out. The sleigh rides are fun, as well as the skiing and the cocoa and dogs by the fire. Join us on Friday, the 18th.

A great get well goes out to ex-neighbor Nancy, who is in Rumford Community Hospital with pneumonia. I hope that by the time you read this you are home and out enjoying the winter weather. I know how hard it is to stay in when the weather is warm and the snow is falling. Maybe when you are back on your feet we can go for a snowshoe into the woods. I went for a short one with Tasha and she kept hoping to run into you. The paths were all new and untried. Of course, after yesterday's snowfall, there is no sign of any previous paths. Even in the immediate yard, Tasha has had to make all new trails. She took great leaps and then was all but lost in the snow in front of her. She was not discouraged, but did not set off far on her own. What we need is a snowmobile to make a trail, then she could go forever. On second thought, then she could go forever and might. I keep threatening to harness her energy to a sled so she can pull. Perhaps this is the winter to do so. She is so very strong.

Not much more to say this a.m. I hope to see all you Newry residents at the ski and sleigh day on Friday. Till then, have a good week.

meeting and led the salute to the flag. Reports were given by Jane Hosterman, Colleen Boyd, Tillie Meyers and Arlene Lowell. The raffle was an Afghan made and donated by Hope Tibbitts and was won by Maxine Wright. The door prize was won by Roger Twitchell.

The next meeting will be March 8 at the Methodist Church at 11 a.m.

The speaker was Linda Kennedy, consumer assistance specialist from the Maine Public Utilities Commission from Augusta. She spoke on the changes in Maine's electric industry.

In the absence of Jo-Ann Royer, Colleen Boyd sold the raffle tickets and in the absence of Rudy Royer, Merlie Butters gave the blessing.

Helen Saunders made the birthday cake. Birthdays for February are: Barbara Hathaway, Barbara Mahler, Burton Meyers, Claire Rendeau, Helen Saunders, Muriel Whitney and Lindley Wieden.

After dinner members were treated to three one-act plays at Gould Academy. Many thanks to the Gould Academy department of music and drama for an enjoyable afternoon.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

The drawing for the Heritage Necklace, designed by Jim Mann of Mountain Mann Jewelers, was held on Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, at a dessert beginning at 7 p.m. in the Dr. Moses Mason House Meeting Room. Jim Mann described how the necklace was made and provided some history of how the gems came to be part of the necklace. The lucky winner was Linda Davis of Bethel. Marjorie Osgood's name was drawn for the mining field trip for four for a day with Jim Mann and Donna Furtney of Hudson, Ohio, was winner of the amethyst earrings. All proceeds, less expenses, are to benefit the Bethel Historical Society's capital campaign.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Lee Mills, who was a life member of the society. A descendant of a founder of Bethel, he was a former guide in the Dr. Moses Mason House and a generous donor for many years.

Anyone having a small microwave oven in good working order that they are no longer using is urged to consider donating it to the society for use in the Robinson House. Please call the society office if one is available (824-2908).

The 26th annual Heritage Day will be held on Saturday, Feb. 19, 1-4 p.m. at the Regional History Center. As usual there will be Indian pudding served from the hearth of the winter kitchen of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Special tours will be available of the period house museum. There will be a number of old-time craft demonstrations as well as a continuous series of historical videos. A historical book fair will also be featured. The exhibit on Maine historian John Francis Sprague will be open as well as one on the history of the Robinson House. The museum shop at Robinson House will also be open, with Priscilla Walker also demonstrating quilting.

From the Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

The next activity planned by the auxiliary when they met on Feb. 3 is the annual Oyster Stew Supper on Feb. 17. This has been a long standing tradition which the Post usually does, but this year it will be done by the Unit which invites the Legion family to gather as usual for fellowship and to break that cabin fever, if only for an evening. Serving will begin at 6 p.m. and there will be something also for those who don't enjoy oysters.

In other business, a donation was voted to the Coffee Fund at Togos. This provides coffee for those who must come and wait for their appointments or those who accompanied a patient there and must wait for them.

The Unit is seeking girls in the junior class at Telstar to be delegates to Girls' State in June. It is hoped that there will be a number of girls who are interested in spending a week at Husson College for a fun and informative time. Those who do attend always report about how much they learned, while making life-long friends and having a good time in sports and talent shows, etc. They learn how government works by participating in all phases, from local town meetings, to county and state activities. Any girl now in the junior class who would be interested in taking part in this program is urged to communicate this interest to the guidance office or principal's office. Nancy Grover is the chairman of the Girls' State Committee for this Unit.

The Unit voted to loan their popcorn machine to the Telstar Booster's Club so they can make popcorn and sell it at the various games and sport meets at the school.

The meeting of the Second District will take place at 1 p.m. on Feb. 20 at Sabattus, at which time there will be the District's Oratorical Contest.

The fifth-grade D.A.R.E. graduation was held on Wednesday, Feb. 9, with the bleachers filled to capacity. The two fifth grades had completed the 17-week D.A.R.E. program and showed what they learned by taking an exam and writing a 100-word essay. Alicia Farrar, Megan Manson, Elizabeth Abbott and Nicole Massatt read their essays during the program. After the welcome, given by Principal Melanie Ellsworth, and opening words by Deputy Dane Tripp, Lindsey Rosenberg led everyone in the flag salute. Adam Farrar held the flag.

State Representative Ted Heidrich was the guest speaker, and he reinforced what the students had learned about making choices throughout life. Sheriff Herrick also spoke to the classes, and the evening ended with the presentation of certificates and the D.A.R.E. t-shirts.

The February Parent Volunteer meeting was very productive. A few more parents were able to attend, as we now have a person in charge of childcare during the meeting. We set the date for the annual walk-a-thon for the first full week in March. The grand prize for raising the most money will be a bicycle, and there will be many more prizes, also. The money will be used toward improving the lighting and sound system in the gym. More information will be coming home before vacation. The volunteers will also be selling refreshments at the West Paris Town Meeting on March 4. The regular meeting date is the second Tuesday of the month and the time is 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. We'd love to see even more turn out.

All grades are preparing for the Klondike Derby, which will be held on Feb. 18. This is also an annual event. Teams are being made up, names chosen, and plans made for who will be the hardworking dogs, who will be the musher, and who will bring the sled and money bag (sock) for all the gold planned to be accumulated as they dash from station to station answering questions. Each station has the name of an Alaskan town. We do have enough snow. Some were worried earlier this winter. Our partner, Shop 'n Save, is providing refreshments for the end of the race. Mayors and Mounties will be on duty during the entire afternoon.

We didn't forget Valentine's Day, and all classes exchanged valentines and enjoyed refreshments in a variety of ways. Thank you to our room mothers and to all who supplied the goodies.

OUTNUMBERED, BUT VICTORIOUS
Bob Holmes of Rumney, N.H. (at rear, in dark shirt) put on a show at Telstar Tuesday as he singlehandedly defeated three volleyball teams made up of students and faculty. In addition to providing entertainment, Holmes also brought a message with him. He spoke to the students about the importance of resisting peer pressure to engage in unhealthy activities. In addition to the Telstar teams, Holmes has also defeated squads of players from the Miami Dolphins and Buffalo Bills.

Gould 52, Pine Tree Academy 42; Feb. 9—Gould jumped out to an early lead and led 26-15 at the half. However, Pine Tree put together a third quarter run and trailed by only four points at the start of the fourth quarter. With their backs to the wall, Gould rallied, led by Josh Gray's excellent passing and Chris Liberti's six points. Game MVP for Gould was captain Josh Gray, who played his best game of the season, scoring 26 points and handing out many assists. Liberti added 12 points inside the paint. Mrs. House has been working with the WES Student Council preparing for "Read Across America" on March 2. They have been copying and coloring Dr. Seuss characters to hang in the hallways during that week. Each day the characters will have a different trivia question from a Dr. Seuss book. The school will also do a book swap, serve green eggs and ham for lunch, and have Alice Arlan, a local author read and talk to the children. Shown here are (standing) Joelle Silver, Elizabeth Forkus, Merissa Osgood, Mrs. House. Seated: Lisa Piccirillo, Kara Thurlow, Kayla Fitzmorris, Josh Campbell.

the Garden" by Nancy Carlston, "Alida's Song" by Gary Paulsen, "Look Back Moss" and "Away to Me Moss" by Betty Levin.

Donations: The Bethel Library would like to thank the following for their donations of books, audio tapes and videos: Lorraine Larsen, Moria Donnell, Tania Margate, Heidi and Rob James, Sue Fiske and Lorrie Hoeh.

Memorial and Birthday Donations: "Cordially Yours, Brother Cadfael" by Ellis Peters was donated in remembrance of Jessie Thacker, "The New York Times Crossword Puzzle Dictionary" was donated in honor of Helen Lucas and "Come Grow Old With Me The Best is Yet to Be" by Martz was donated in honor of Phyllis King and James McPherson. All of these donations were given by Gwyneth and Kenneth Bohr.

The Bethel Library-Fiction Reading Group will meet on Feb. 28 at 7 p.m. to discuss "Snow Falling on Cedars" by David Guterson. Everyone please be ready to suggest your book choice for reviewing.

From the Telstar Alumni Association

The monthly meeting of the Telstar Alumni Association was held on Tuesday, Feb. 8, at 6:30 p.m. at the Telstar High School library. Very few members were in attendance.

At our next couple of meetings we will discuss: planning the May Dance at the Legion hall, getting started on a newsletter, and, as always, tracking down alumni addresses. Please help us out and send us your current address and e-mail address. Just send all information to the school and it will be forwarded to the Alumni Association.

Class members from the five-year reunion years are invited and urged to attend any of our regular monthly meetings to have input in your class reunions. There may be class funds in your class account. The association would also like to have class reunions take place on Alumni Weekend, which will always be the second weekend in August. That way, all alumni activities will be centered around the same weekend as Alumni Day. Reunion years are: 1970 (30 years), 1975 (25 years), 1980 (20 years), 1985 (15 years), 1990 (10 years) and 1995 (5 years). As always, the alumni will try to help you as much as we can, but you need to get in touch with us. It takes months to plan a reunion, earning money, finding a place and getting it all to come together.

The next regular Alumni Association meeting will be March 14, at 6:30 p.m. in the Telstar library. Come and join us.

From the
Crescent Park School PTA

CPS will be involved in the 2000 snowmen effort sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, PTA members learned at their January meeting. Children can build snow figures on the playground, and we will photograph them and submit them to the chamber.

We had freeze-ups in the building over the weekend, with pipes bursting and sprinklers going off in the conference room and composite room.

MEA results from the current fifth-grade class are in. They have gone home in the mail to parents of fifth-graders. As a school, CPS did better than state average on every level. Grade four will participate in a national achievement test. Bernice Caddigan will be the coordinator for CPS. Letters regarding this test will go home in February. Swings will be installed on the playground behind the gym in the spring.

Denise Manning (Rug Rat coordinator from Gould Academy) spoke to PTA members about the evolution of the Rug Rat Program and gave positive feedback about the current program. The Sunday River pros teach the Gould students to instruct the basics. The Gould students in turn teach CPS children those same fundamentals. The goal of the program is to provide third-, fourth-, and fifth-grade children with the opportunity to have ski lessons during the school day. Currently, all children who participated will be graduating from the bunny slope to the lift by the end of the season. This program also provides the Gould boarders a tie to the community and gives CPS children another positive role model.

Deb Oliver will be looking to spend the proceeds from the 1999 May Fair in the area of Performing Arts for K-5 children. The auditions and rehearsals for the Missoula 2000 production will be held the first week in March.

The auction for May Fair 2000 will be held separately from that day, and is tentatively set for April 28. The committee is looking into hiring someone to bring in games instead of asking the teachers for help.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 17 at 6:30 p.m. We need volunteers to cut and serve the snacks. A PTA representative has been requested to be at the Portland Pirates vs. Springfield Falcons on Feb. 19. Any volunteers?

The marketing committee has sold $74 worth of merchandise. The group is looking into ordering a quantity of vests and hats to sell. The committee is hoping to use the CPS website as a vehicle for communication.

From the
Friends of Telstar Middle School

Today, Thursday, Feb. 17, the Friends of Telstar Middle School will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Telstar library. Susan Parker is our guest speaker. Mrs. Parker is the substance abuse counselor in the school. Also on the agenda is a recap of the students' activities on Black Mountain. The public is welcomed to join us.

From the
Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Our 2000 Snowmen Fest weekend is upon us and all are welcomed to join in the fun. The weekend is being "kicked-off" by one of our Snowmen Fest sponsors, Megalink Customer Appreciation Night at the Suds Pub on Friday night from 6 to 9 p.m. Whether you are a customer of theirs or not, you are invited to come and enjoy refreshments as well as checking out what Megalink offers as services to both businesses and residents of our area.

Saturday will be filled with festivities including lots of snowman making and skating on the Bethel Common. In the early afternoon a bonfire will be built on the common and hot dogs and marshmallows can be enjoyed off the end of the roasting stick. Free horse-drawn wagon rides, compliments of our sponsors, are open to all. Other activities planned indoors at the Bethel Inn Conference Center are a puppet show, compliments of Mead and the Pulp and Paperworker Resource Council; Trillium Dance Group, a vocal and dance performance provided by local children, led by Don Murphy; the Angus, King of the Mountain Photo Contest and 2000 Snowmen prizes will be awarded and there will be plenty of giveaways, compliments of the chamber and our event partners. We encourage the "Snowmen Building Momentum" to continue right through the winter (since snowmen-building snow has finally presented itself.)

Our 2000 Snowmen Fest has been made possible through the generosity of the following businesses: Premier Partner -- New England Jeep Dealers; Gold Partners -- Megalink, Resort Sports Network, Mead, Sunday River Ski Resort; Bronze Partners -- Northeast Bank, Bechtel, The Home Depot, Discover/NOVUS Network, NTL Institute, H.P. Hood, Inc., Casablanca Cinema at Bethel Station; and Print Partner -- Seltzer & Rydholm, Inc. and Unicef. Other supplies for the festival have been supplied by Jordan Meats, Shaw's Supermarkets, Wal-Mart, Rite Aid, Fotostops and Photo Market. Many thanks to all for their generosity.

Also, a huge thanks to those of you who have built snowmen and to Vicki Irons who has worked with the children at Crescent Park School to create "a snowman happening" there.

Many thanks to the owners and staff at Mt. Abram Ski Resort for hosting this month's Business After Hours. It is exciting to see the improvements they have made to the facilities and to learn of their plans for the future. It was especially nice to visit with the members of the Oxford Hills Chamber, who also attended the event.

Welcome to the chamber's new part-time employee, Bonnie Conary. Bonnie will be answering the phone and being a "Jill of all trades" during the rest of the busy winter season.

Vacation week family entertainment

February School Vacation Week at Sunday River Ski Resort promises to be fun-filled and action-packed as the Black Diamond Family Entertainment Series serves up a trio of family style performances.

Starting with Sunday, Feb. 20, the post-modern juggling duo of "blink" delivers a stunning display of technical talent combined with gentle humor that's set to a backdrop of great music.

The Gizmo Guys hit the stage on Wednesday, Feb. 23, and keep the mid-week momentum going with their fast paced, comedy juggling antics. Sure, there are the usual pins and balls but you never know what the two will pull out next. Could be Chinese yo-yo's or hats or some other gizmo.

On Thursday, Feb. 24, the Good Rockin' Daddies' authentic '50's style rounds things out with their lively rock 'n roll that will have kids donning their shades and putting on their dancing shoes.

Each show begins at 7 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Grand Summit Resort Hotel at Sunday River.

Tickets for this family event are $3 for children (six through 12) and $5 for adults in advance, or $5 and $7 at the door.

Tickets may be purchased on-mountain at the South Ridge Lodging Check In, the Snow Cap Inn and the Summit Hotel front desk or at Books-N-Things in Bethel.
